

Thoughts for Law Students 2010

- The law is a learned profession.
- Rent 1 room and open your office.
- I am still here.
- Anything less than full justice is injustice.
- Justice delayed is justice denied.
- His wit was his passport.
- He ran all the way.
- Sit in a hard chair and sweat.
- We are born astride a grave.
- It is against every law of nature for a parent to bury a child.
- Against stupidity even God battles in vain.
- Happy deathday to you.
- Bitter bookkeeping of death.
- Dream no charge for alterations.
- Your brain is your toolbox.
- Life is jazz not ballroom dancing.
- A lawyer must be bold.
- Have the audacity to win and win again and again.
- Enjoy the party (life) this is it! so have a good time.
- What is your expiration date?
- A life so rich is hard to leave says the king's horseman.
- There is a lull in my life.
- Too much is not enough.
- When I talk to YOU I MUST use words.
- A night of doubt.
- Don't understand me too quickly.
- The owl rehearses it's cry of death in the forest.
- Does the train leave the station or does the station leave the train.
- Look at the view mister look at the view.
- I am wired for it.
- The number of your years is limited BUT your reputation lives forever.
- I am more than a meal ticket.
- I am unique.
- Keep pitching the woo.
- Let the dead take care of the dead.
- The unknown soldier and his wife.
- GOD let my righteous anger cool.
- I have my time and I have my era.
- I have had my moments.
- I am the designated mourner.
- I do magic.
- This is not a discount courthouse.
- Appreciate judges juries and yourself.
- Good is better than bad because it is nicer.
- Craft a crisp sentence to wrap up a bale of thought.
- EXPERTO CREDE.
